Tasting Note

Key B

This is from Gamay vines grown on the slopes of the rolling Beaujolais hills, planted on rocky granite. This gives the wines an extra crunchy and freshness. The wine is fermented with whole bunches (grapes, stems and all) to add a layer of spicy complexity to the wine, melding wonderfully with the raspberry and rhubarb flavours. Juicy, super ripe Gamay fruit with flavours of summer fruit compote, typically vibrant acidity and a soft, approachable finish.

Food Pairing

Burgers | Roast Duck | East Asian Dishes

Producer

Samantha Bailey & Guillaume Letang are a winemaking team on a mission - they scour the southern reaches of France, searching for the best vineyards they can find, buy the fruit and translate it into juicy, fun wines year in, year out.
