Producer

Franschhoek, meaning “French Corner” is home to some of South Africa’s most famous wine estates and has been producing wine since the 17th century. Franschhoek Vineyards Ltd was founded in 1945 by a group of local farmers to vinify their grapes on a co-operative basis. They have long since shed this old co-op image and are now operating as a private winery, with an uncompromised drive to produce quality wines.
